Class Descriptions:

Toddle Around! Drop-in Class (Music and Art 12-24 mos)

Toddle Around! will introduce your toddler to the most basic of class structures as well as a tender and loving social environment with like-aged children. During a Toddle Around class we will present open-ended, process oriented art and sensory exploration opportunities to the children. Children will be encouraged to participate at their own pace, in their own way, and sitting at a table is never a requirement! After a quick clean up our guitarist will join the class for a short period of music, movement, and storytelling. Toddle Around is taught by Kids at Work founder and director Julie Averill. Toddle Around is a Drop-in class, meaning toddlers can register for 8 or more classes, or pay-as-you-go with a discount for the more classes your child participates in!

Jam Sessions Babies (Music 0-12 months)

Join other new moms and caregivers of young babies as two teachers lead the class through several sensory rich musical and movement-based activities selected to nurture, calm, and stimulate babies during their first year. Our class guitarist will accompany us as moms and caregivers are encouraged to sing along to their babies. Each week, moms and caregivers will be encouraged to share something new about their baby as well as ask questions of others in the class about this important time in your child's development.

Sun Sessions/Jam Sessions (Music Mixed Ages 0-4 years)

Jam Sessions is the indoor version of our popular summer program Sun Sessions! Let your child experience this high energy class filled with storysongs, child-friendly instruments, and improvisation. Jam Sessions are taught by professional early childhood educators and a separate guitarist. Mixed ages create a real family atmosphere in class, where little ones learn from big ones, and big ones are encouraged to take on a leadership role. Jam Sessions on Wednesday is a registered class and will take place at our 14th Street location. Jam Sessions on Saturdays is a drop-in class and will be held as a "Sun Session" Washington Square Park weather permitting, and when it gets colder, nearby at the Village Preschool Center.

Mess it Up I (Art 18 mos – 2.5 years)

Mess it Up I is a creative and hands-on art and sensory play class that will keep your creative and active toddler busy and engaged throughout. Several sensory-rich art and science stations are presented throughout the class, and stations are removed and re-introduced according to students' interest. Children are encouraged to mix, pour, spread, wipe, and squirt their way through open-ended and process oriented art activities. Finished products are not encouraged, and sitting is never required!

Mess it Up II (Art 2.5 – 3.5 years)

Mess it Up II is so much more than an art class for young children! During Mess it Up II teachers will begin to nurture decision-making skills, community building, as well as pre-math and pre-literacy concepts via our creative, theme-based curriculum. Topics range from seasonal to story-based, and color and shape play to simple science concepts like buoyancy and weight. Students will hypothesize about what will happen and will develop critical thinking skills through open-ended questions and creative process oriented projects. Just enough structure will allow your child to express his or herself through age-appropriate "mess is best" activities!
